Are we really all online? Debunking the myth around our digital society

Tuesday, September 24 | 12:30-1:30pm | Room 10, ACC Liverpool

This event is located inside the secure zone. Attendees must have a full conference pass for entry.

In an increasingly connected world, it's easy to assume everyone is online. Yet, for many rural and underserved communities, the reality is different. Sponsored by Broadcast 2040+ and Arqiva, this panel will debunk myths about digital inclusion, examining who is being left behind and why. Industry leaders and policymakers will discuss the challenges of digital exclusion, from infrastructure access to digital literacy, and its impact on those without connectivity.

Speakers

Laurie Patten

Director of Strategy and Regulation
Arqiva

Kerry Booth

Chief Executive
Rural Services Network

Dan Aldridge

Labour MP
Weston-super-Mare

Elizabeth Anderson (Chair)

CEO
Digital Poverty Alliance

Complimentary food and refreshments will be provided.
